

The Right

Our contention for years has been that we produced and sold better milk than the other dairies, and we have urged that tests be made reg-ularly.

This is from the Bulletin issued by the Department of Health for July:

"SEE THAT YOUR MILK IS STANDARD."

"Commencing with this Issue of the Health Department Report, we will publish a list of analyses of milk made during the mouth, with the names of dairies from which samples are taken. It is our purpose to see that the people of El Paso get good milk, and we believe that this method will assist us in our endeavor. It will let the public know what kind of milk it is getting and also give the worthy dairyman due credit for his efforts. Our city standard calls for 12 percent solids, 2.4 percent butter fat and a lacterial count of 100,000 per cubic centimeter, so if your dairyman is furnishing you milk below this standard, you are not getting value received. In a comparison of our analysis and that from other places we believe that the people of El Paso are faring a little better of El Paso are faring a little better in Milk than most places and we shall see that they continue to do so. The bacterial count gives you were good idea of cleanliness in handling the milk, as anything over too, soo shows carelessness somewhere in this respect."

The analysis of our milk for July was total solids, 12.74: butter fat, 2.8; bacterial count, 60,000.

"The report of the city chemist and bacteriologist on the milk examinations for this month show that a number of dairymen are furnishing a very poor grade of milk to the public. In each case they have been notified of the conditions and warned that prosecutions will follow unless their milk comes up to standard. In this work we can be given very valuable assistance by the cooperation of the medance by the cooperation of the medical fraternity by notifying their patients whether their dairyman is selling good milk or not. We expect to hear complaints from some of the dairymen because of our strict regulating of the dairies, but the man who is selling good milk will not complain. The other fellow's complaint will do no good and if he is watering or separating his milk or handling it in an unclean manner the sooper the public brought by the Empress of Japan that thousands were dying of starvation in Kiangku, slong the languae, following the floods, and the satuation was expected to augment greatly the spread of the rebellion. Refugees paint a black picture of dire distress.

The whole country was under water, the language having risen to such an extent that it was virtually then bounded only by the ranges of hills some distance from the banku; corpses water fleating everywhere and famine strickent refugees were dying daily from distance.

In pieces, the Yangize was 25 miles broad and floating bodies upon which starving dogs were feeding, were seen in numbers. An officer of one of the river gunboats tells of seeing a number of mutilisted corpses in uniform, indicating the fate of some imperial soldiers at the hands of the starving peasantry. Between 50,000 and 70,000 refugees, probably from adhul, were clustered at Nanking in the hope of being able to get food and shelter, but their condition was appalling, owing principally to the ravages of disease. Cholera was raging among them, and typhus was said to be equally bad, besides other forms of pestilence. The death rate was reported to be between 200 and 100 a day. Food had been sent to them, but it was almost impossible for medical science to do anything. In places, the Yangtse was 25 miles

The Old Bedlam.

Bethlehem (pronounced Bedlam) is the London lunatic asylum. It was originally founded in 1247 as a priory, but is spoken of as a hospital for lunatics in 1472, and when the church was despoiled it was granted to the city of Loudon as such an asylum. At one time the wretched lumates were exhibited to the public like so many wild beasts, as Pepys notes in his dinry and Hogarth shows in one of his sketches. Patients that were harmless or haif cured were given badges and released to beg in the streets. Edgar in "King Lear" impersonates one of these wandering Tom-o'-Bedlams.

BEDROOM SUITS

The mahogany bedroom suits we are now showing are not only beautiful as regards the wood they are made of but the various pieces are of such graceful and beautiful shape. If you have a bed room that is to be furnished very handsomely, select one of these mahogany suits. Another advantage of furnishing in mahogany is that it is such a durable wood that re-furnishing is never necessary.

If you do not care to buy a whole suit of mahogany, we will sell the separate pieces. But, when a complete suit is purchased we make quite a considerable discount. Our Model Bedroom, fitted up entirely in mahogany, will interest you.

Out-of-town visitors are cordially invited to see our special displays this week of mahogany and other furniture. We fill out-of-town orders for furniture, rugs and draperies promptly and satisfactorily.

Velardens, Dgo., Mex., Oct. 16 .- Ancedes hacienda, with ranch headquarters close to agna de la Vieja, in this district, was brainfly assessinated by a bunch of handits. As near as can be ascertained, one of the assassins knocked at his door, and when Herran opened the door, rifle in hand, he was shot in the breast. Herran ran after his assailant, and when he turned the corner of his house the remainder of the gang opened fire, riddling him with bullets. Persons initiately acquainted with decedent cannot account for his assassination, as he took no part in the recent revolution, although it is said that he was a strong supporter of Gen. Reyes for profilent. Lobbery was evidently not the motive, as nothing was taken from his hous;

Bandits have been operating in the Nazas district recently and a prominent physician who had occasion to visit that pince last week, says that he saw several in a cornfield not over 200 yards from the main wagon road. The residents of that district keep sentinels out at all hours. They intend to defend themselves, and will not allow the bandit element to come close to their places.

MEXICANS BEAT AND ROB MAN AND WIFE

Outrage on American Couple at Viesca Goes Unpumished.

Torreon, Mex. Oct 16.—The Mexican officials have not yes solved the mystery cunnected with the outrage at Viesca, where five men broke into the name of William McCoy and maltreated him and Mrs. McCoy. Both were severely beaten, though Mrs. McCoy's constitute was worse that that of her hus-dition was worse than that of her husband. Both are gray haired people, without any known enemies, and the motive for the assault cannot be determined.

Mr. McCoy has been in the place for a number of rears. He resides about mildway between the town of Viesch and the rubber facory. Mrs. McCoy was the only American woman among the families of those connected with the plant who is in Viesca, the others being in the United Sintes at the suggestion of manager John C. Treadwell of the Mexican Crude Rubber company. The local situation had been very unsatisfactory for weeks, and a month ago manager Treadwell complained to the suthertiles of the inamer of publicly selling liquor and permitting the continual presence of women of fill fame on the plane, which it is said they have monopolized for weeks.

MADERISTAS ARE TURNED INTO RURALES

Three commands are Mustered Into the Federal Service at Torress by Gen. Villasener.

Torreon, Mex., Oct. 16.—The principal result of the visit to Torreon of Gen. Clements Villasenor is the reorganism of all the Maderists forces in the state of Coabulla into regularly constituted bodies of rurales. Hereafter they will be known as the 19th, Ilat and, 23nd corps, and will probably be commanded by Cols. J. Agustin Castro, Sixto Ugalde and Orestes Persyra.

The arrival of the corps of rurales under Col. Persyra from Monclova erasted considerable comment, as the object of their recall was not made known until the work was actually commenced. In anticipation of the grival of the commander in chief of the rurales the members of the several corps were soulpped with new saddles and mountings and presented a creditable appearance.
